NUMBERS RULE THE WORLD

Pythagoras

"Numbers can talk and numerology is their language."

Aristotle

Numerology is an ancient knowledge representing an ancient language of symbols and a universal expression of the reality surrounding us. The one capable of penetrating the secrets of this knowledge will be able to decipher any message, regardless of the time period it was created in. Numbers describe the evolution of the Universe from the first moment of creation, reducing everything to stages and cyclical periods of time. Each figure is a symbol bearing in its representation correspondences with an impressive array of elements and terms from the surrounding environment.

Numerology is a practical system, easy to understand and use, which can now be employed in all fields. Numerological calculations help develop intuition, identify and take advantage of character traits, improve relationships, indicate the positive influences in a person's life and offer answer to all questions a person could have.

The belief in the power of numbers has lasted for thousands of years, its very long existence attesting its authenticity. The mystical veil enveloping it is easily removed by those who dare see beyond appearances, who have the curiosity and courage to venture in the fascinating world of remarkable achievements.

In its complexity, the numerological system is equal to any classical science of our present days, being also composed of theoretical knowledge and practical applications. By perfecting his knowledge, the adept practitioner will gain a unique perspective on life and access to a completely new world.

Numerology is a mystical study of the connections between numbers and a person's life events, and can be found in all traditions and beliefs of the world. The numbers in your life are by no means random. They encode the significant events occurring throughout a person's life, and determine the exact time intervals after which they occur.

A person's name is a personal symbol accompanying him throughout his existence. It's like a personal trademark each person receives at birth, which marks his individuality.

To penetrate the mysteries of Numerology means adopting one by one all the forms of existence of creation, and making them a part of whom you are. Aside from such an experience, the numerological practice remains a continuous imitation of mathematics and the repeating of monotonous definitions. Beyond the profound understanding, Numerology presents us with a new world, building bridges between the farthest extremes and offers a descriptive perspective on reality.

The manual you have before you is meant to be a challenge for future generations. The numerological language deciphers signs and symbols we are surrounded by and exposes the story of the unseen world, perceived through subtle senses and which cannot be easily described in words.

It is a challenge for the future, as the world transforms with an increasingly higher rhythm. Information will be the trade token of the highest value for today's youths. Correct and quality information will be increasingly hard to come by, as the world we live in is suffocated by an abundance of content and hungry for knowledge.

I wrote this book to help others penetrate this knowledge on several levels of understanding, and for it to be used as a personal guide, leading the reader on the right path, and providing him with the necessary advises at the right time. In the following pages you will find many teachings and demonstrations of the phenomena you were familiar with, but for which you hadn't find the right explanations.

Figures are the foundation of the world and the basis of all things. They can be found in any phenomenon, event, being or object. Figures are present in matter, in states, emotions or thought, in music, imagination or dreams, in any object determined by space and time and everywhere outside them.

Through this work I wish to offer a practical and relevant definition of numerology, through a representation that does not limit in any way the boundless horizon of its knowledge and wisdom, and which does not go beyond the limits of common sense and intellectuality.

FIVE is the symbol of eternal creation, as a sum between the feminine principle (2) and masculine principle (3). The value five contains within itself both primordial principles, which presupposes the perfection of the fruit of creation.

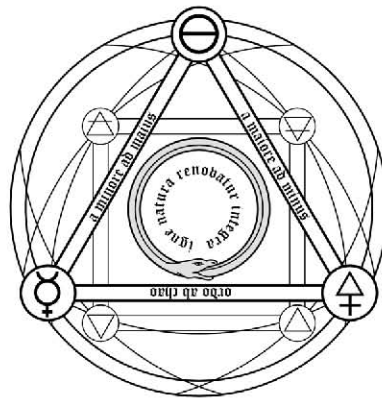

Looked upon from a different perspective, five is the symbol of the perfect man, of the one who has transcended the materiality of the world in which he lives, has understood the nature of the things surrounding him, and is no longer under the causal influence of corporeality. The value four defined the existence of the four primordial elements which are the base for the formation of the entire universe.

Aristotle, an ancient Greek philosopher, believed that there was a fifth substance, called ether. The Greek term was pemptusia, a word composed of the number pempti (the fifth) and the noun ousia (substance), thus defining the fifth element. Aristotle stated about this element that it is unborn, outside time, eternal, incorruptible, devoid of growth and of any transformation. Like the Divinity itself, the fifth element was considered to be part of the highest layers of the sky. Subsequently, Greek and Byzantine philosophers have completed Aristotle's explanations and named the fifth element or quintessence, as being the fundamental essence of all things created, as well as a nucleus around which the entire existence organizes itself.

Thus, unlike the previous values, five becomes the first composed value that contains inside it the act of creation. One, two, three and four are independent values that give birth to the entire Universe through their continuous interaction. The fifth element is the one whose role is to control the actions of the four elements. Its perfection must first of all be complete in the three-dimensional space in which it lives and come to use time as a resource.

Time itself is not self-sufficient. Time is dependent on space and on its creation. Through its incessant activity, the value five is the creator of shapes and of realities that are delimited in space and, in turn, compose the space. Spatial-temporal landmarks are governed by the value six, which determines through its passivity the complexity of the environment and time. The value five, on the other hand, is the one representing the continuous creative action. Its role is to contain opposite elements and mediate the continuous interaction between them.

As Aristotle intuited, the fifth element is outside time, and its activity is eternal. The value five cannot be restricted or inscribed in a finite medium. These are the characteristics of the value four, the one responsible for the exact completion of each process. Four is the element concluding each cycle and finalizes relationships at all levels of existence. The value five, however, is the one entrusted with creating abundance, and for this purpose it needs flexibility and mobility.

This value's degree of freedom creates the illusion of unleashing and crossing all borders. The state caused is similar to abandonment and the removal of all dependencies. In reality, this creative energy requires a very refined approach, because it is also subjected to very clear rules. Nothing occurs randomly and nothing is left to chance. The mastery of the fifth element or the penetration of quintessence means penetrating in the higher levels of understanding.

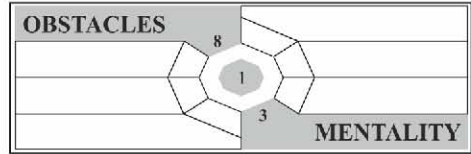

This point of absolute presence is located in the central house of the Table, positioned at the centre of the inner diamond, and referred to as the House of Personality.

DIAGONAL 1

DIAGONAL 2

DIAGONAL 3

DIAGONAL 4

When adding the positions of the houses on each diagonal, the result always equals 11. Careful! In the present case we take into account the value defining the house's position in the Personal Numerological Table, not the value inside it. Known for its superior traits, the number 11 indicates once again the ideal of inner mastery that each person tends towards through the achievement of a perfect balance at the core of his being. The number 11 is all the more relevant since each extreme of the four diagonals represents a fundamental pillar in the existence of the human being. We therefore have a 1 next to another 1, and the challenge faced by man to create a bridge connecting them. The majesty of the number 11 consists in the capacity to achieve harmony between the opposite extremes, to capture the energy potential generated by the tension between the two poles, and to use it efficiently. The challenge is all the more personal, as in the centre of the table and in the middle point of each diagonal is the House of Personality, the position defining the most intimate character traits of each individual.

The positions of the 9 Houses

House of Personality = 1

House of Desires = 2                      House of Mentality = 3

House of Destiny	= 4	House of Manifestation	= 5
House of Challenges	= 6	House of Resources	= 7
House of Obstacles	= 8	House of Achievements	= 9

Therefore:

$$2 + 9 = 3 + 8 = 4 + 7 = 5 + 6 = 11$$

$$11 + 11 + 11 + 11 = 44$$

$$2 + 3 + 4 + 5 + 6 + 7 + 8 + 9 = 44$$

$$44 + 1 = 45 = 4 + 5 = 9$$

✂ Four diagonals, as the most important bridges in a man's life.

✂ Four tests, corresponding to the four primordial elements which underlie the creation of the Universe

✂ Four main directions, offering man eight different approaches to his life.

✂ Four fundamental interactions, ensuring the continuous refinement of the inner diamond of the human being.

✂ Four pairs of complementary elements that, through the perpetual kinematics created between them, ensure man's constant evolution.

✂ Four gates with eight keys protecting and sculpting at the same time, in their inner space, the fragility of the human personality.

✂ Four illusory bridges of an ephemeral life, delimited by spatial and temporal landmarks, together with the eight particular values.

The dynamics of each diagonal is based on the cause-effect principle, which suggests that, regardless of the active or passive aspect of the houses, each of them manifests its influence on the point of balance between them just as strongly. Thus, the approach of any diagonal can be made through any of its two extremities, keeping in mind, of course, its specific characteristics. Optimizing the relationship between extremes means improving the quality of human life.

Thus, through an overview on the Personal Numerological Table, we can state the following:

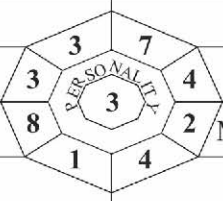

✂ Man’s realizations are directly proportional with his desires; the achievements obtained to the present day represent the source generating future desires and ideals.

✂ Man’s destiny is conditioned by the resources he has access to, and the manner in which he manages them; the efficient exploitation of his inner talents and qualities will provide him with a successful destiny.

✂ Each man will have to deal with challenges corresponding to his manifestation; the behaviour and attitude that the person adopts will have him facing proportional tests.

✂ The obstacles that the person faces only mirror his judgement; his mentality and type of reasoning fill his path with obstacles or make his journey easier.

PERSONAL NUMEROLOGICAL TABLE
21.10.1957

OBSTACLES		REALIZATIONS
CHALLENGES		RESOURCESE
DESTINY		MANIFESTATION
DESIRES		MENTALITY

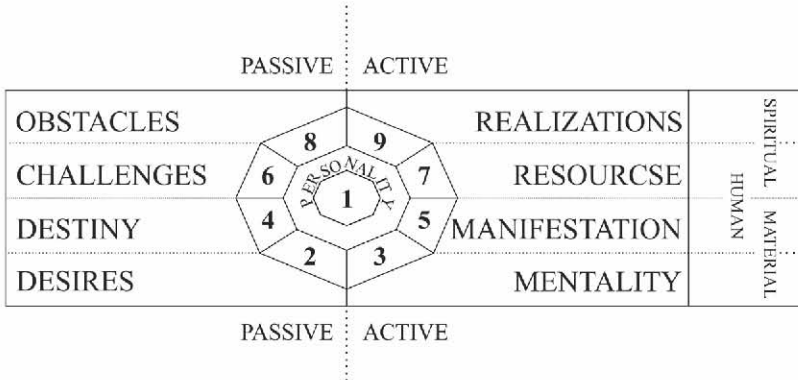

The Personal Numerological Table offers man the possibility to study personal values, providing him with his personalized psycho-emotional map, with the help of which he can safely navigate through his own inner labyrinth.

If in the initial form of the table, the balance of each diagonal is in correspondence with the summed positions of the two houses, which in each of the four cases adds up to 11, in practice, the value inscribed in each of the nine houses will be completely different for each birth date. In this case, the person wishing to determine their own position of stability is required to use the numerological study of the numbers present in each house and determine the possible interactions between them.

2.1. STRUCTURE OF THE PERSONAL NUMEROLOGICAL TABLE

PERSONAL NUMEROLOGICAL TABLE

The Personal Numerological Table is composed of:

- nine houses:
- HOUSE OF PERSONALITY (1)
  - HOUSE OF DESIRES (2)
  - HOUSE OF MENTALITY (3)
  - HOUSE OF DESTINY (4)
  - HOUSE OF MANIFESTATIONS (5)
  - HOUSE OF CHALLENGES (6)
  - HOUSE OF RESOURCES (7)
  - HOUSE OF OBSTACLES (8)
  - HOUSE OF REALIZATIONS (9)
- four diagonals:
- DIAGONAL 1 (house 2-9)
  - DIAGONAL 2 (house 3-8)
  - DIAGONAL 3 (house 4-7)
  - DIAGONAL 4 (house 5-6)
- two hemispheres: ACTIVE PASSIVE
- three planes: MATERIAL HUMAN SPIRITUAL administration of a treatment the particularities of the patient and the manner in which he manifests a certain illness will be taken into account.

The slow advanced and numerous obstacles met in any field are mostly due to one of the strongest, and still involuntary, mental reactions, namely the rejection of everything new and unfamiliar. The more the ego is crystallized around the scientific knowledge or other beliefs, regardless of their nature, the more the man's degrading pride will prevent him from maintaining a permissive approach towards life and towards the experiences around him. However, a complete abandonment of the use of intelligence in everyday life is not desirable either, especially when it's employed to improve its accuracy and precision.

The House of Mentality is in direct communication with the first, the second and the fifth house. The house that tends to balance and harmonize the actions of the House of Mentality is the House of Obstacles. The two houses form an impressive diagonal in the Personal Numerological Table, with outstanding implications in the daily life.

INTERACTIONS IN THE HOUSE OF MENTALITY

Wisdom can be the hidden gift of this house. Wisdom resides in a humble life, far from vanity, pride, and arrogance. A wise man makes his daily work fruitful by working towards virtues and less so towards vitiated interests.

He is capable of overcoming his own nature conditioned by internal and external stimuli, as he will have the possibility to avoid the illusory and false paths of his life. The functionality of this house is at its maximum in the form of a continuous present. A state of continuous presence of mind will bring the man closer and closer to the endless value of life or to the Truth.

INTERACTION BETWEEN THE FIRST 3 HOUSES

Along with the House of Personality and the House of Desires, the House of Mentality is the third one on which man's entire existence is based. Everything the man achieves, all of his results, the extent to which he will be remarked throughout his life, how far he will get, his closeness to others or the behaviour he has when faced with the greatest challenges, all of this and much more are determined based on the value of the three main houses.

HOUSE 4 – HOUSE OF DESTINY

As reflected by the calculation formula, the House of Destiny is obtained by adding the values in the first three houses, therefore it is strongly influenced by them. The House of Destiny holds the fourth position in the Personal Numerological Table, namely a passive, inert position, devoid of any initiative of its own. Although in other conditions the figure of destiny is the one indicated the path travelled in life, or, in other words, an action oriented towards a certain ideal, the interpretation remains the same in both cases, because both the figure of destiny and the House of Destiny indicate the man's latent possibility of becoming and ensure the environment necessary for its accomplishment.

The House of Destiny encompasses man's full potential, which does not require an action or a certain dynamic in his life. The fourth house comprises all the positions that a person could be in at a certain point in his life, indicates his capacities, the general traits of his character, his predominant behaviour, strengths and weaknesses. To summarize in a few words, it can be said that the House of Destiny defines down to the finest details the important aspects of a person's life, highlighting the limits that prevent him from evolving.

turning the 2ND DIAGONAL into the 4TH DIAGONAL

Starting from the 2nd diagonal formed between the House of Mentality and the House of Obstacles, we do nothing more than enter the next house, which belongs to the median plane of the table. Thus, we arrive at the House of Manifestation and the House of Challenges. The explanation is simple: when a blockage arises, it is enough for the man to take one step back in order to more easily discover the cause that has generated it. After that, the only thing left to do is to act in order to remove the obstacle in his life.

From the level of the 2nd diagonal, the said situation is transmuted to the level of the 4th diagonal. According to it, man’s manifestation determines a set of challenges that will be more easily approached than the obstacle itself. In other words: divide et impera, divide and conquer. Whenever the hardships arising seem impossible to overcome, it is enough for the man to take a step back, understand what he is dealing with and act patiently, in order to solve the problems he is dealing with. The action itself will make him approach the entire situation sequentially and increase his chances of success.

Let us take the fear of heights as an example: the man who is afraid of heights is convinced of the risk to which he is subjected and prefers to avoid any such experience. In reality, the obstacle only exists in that person’s imagination, and acts as a mental blockage, sometimes doubled by the struggle of maintaining his balance. There are undoubtedly many clinical approaches to such a problem, but, as far as we are concerned, that person’s Personal Numerological Table can offer a solution. By approaching the problem directly, man starts experimenting with a new reality.

The House of Manifestation proposes a customized approach and describes the potential challenges he might be facing. The idea is that that
