Welcome to Zootopia

Judy was the smallest animal at Zootopia Police Academy, but that didn't stop her. For months, she worked hard. Every day, she studied, she ran, and she climbed. She wanted to be the best police officer in Zootopia. By the end of her time at Zootopia Police Academy, Judy was the best student in her class! Assistant Mayor Bellwether gave Judy her badge and said, "It's a real proud day for us little guys."

Her family were happy, but they were worried, too. Her dad told her to be careful near foxes in the city.

It was Judy's first day in the capital city—Zootopia! She walked down the street and looked at the crowds of animals everywhere. There were big animals, small animals, loud animals, and quiet animals. Everyone lived together happily, every animal was equal.

It was very different than her home. Judy's family lived on a farm in the country. Her mom and dad were carrot farmers. Judy was the first rabbit in her family to live in the city, and the first police officer rabbit, too!

The next day, Judy started work at the ZPD—the Zootopia Police Department. The other police officers were much bigger than Judy, but she didn't mind. She listened carefully to Chief Bogo and took notes with her carrot pen.

Chief Bogo explained that fourteen animals were missing from the city. Chief Bogo was worried. Where were they? They might be lost or in trouble.

Judy was excited. She wanted to help. She said to Chief Bogo, "I was top of my class at the Police Academy." But Chief Bogo wanted Judy to write traffic tickets for cars. Judy was not pleased. She knew she was a good police officer.

Judy decided to work hard and show Chief Bogo that she was the bravest police officer in Zootopia.

Judy was writing a traffic ticket when she saw a fox in an ice-cream store for big animals. That was strange. Why was a fox in there?

She heard the fox say to the elephant, "I'm not looking for any trouble. I just want a Jumbo-pop for my little boy."

"Can't you go to a fox ice-cream store?" replied the elephant. The fox explained that his son loved elephants. And Jumbo-pops!
