1 The New Toy

Once, Woody was his kid's favorite toy. But Andy grew up and went to college, and now the sheriff doll was one of Bonnie's toys. Life was very different here. Woody wasn't one of Bonnie's favorites. She often left him in the cupboard during games.

His friend Buzz tried to make him feel better. "Are you all right, Woody? She'll choose you next time," he said. But Woody wasn't so sure.

One morning, Bonnie's dad said, "Bonnie, it's time to go. We're meeting your new teachers." It was time for Bonnie to see her kindergarten class for the first time.

Bonnie was very quiet and Woody was worried about her. He saw her backpack on the bedroom floor and he had an idea.

"I'm going to kindergarten with her!" he decided. He ran and jumped into the backpack. Bonnie's mom drove them to the kindergarten.

At kindergarten, the kids began to make things, but Bonnie's crayons fell in the trash. Quickly, Woody pulled everything out of the trash. Bonnie didn't see him, but she saw the trash. She glued some eyes on a plastic fork. Then she gave it a mouth, arms, and feet.

Later, she showed the strange figure to her parents. "His name is Forky!" she cried.

Woody got a surprise on the way home—Forky sat up and looked around!
