

Let's Sing
and Read
English

Problems of Vocabulary and Grammar

- Dancing* - the Present Indefinite and the Present Continuous
- The Alphabet* - the pronunciation of the letters is very important for spelling names.
- The Week* - the Indicative Mood and the Conditional Mood
- The Stork* - the Present Participle, Interjections
- The Plural* - the plural of regular and irregular nouns
- Guess who?* - Conditional Clauses, the Conjunctions "either-or", "neither-nor", Ordinal Numerals
- Five friends* - the Modal Verbs "may, can, must, to have to"
- The Birthday* - the expression "there is", the Imperative in good wishes
- The Doll* - questions, expressions with the verb "to make"
- To Do* - expressions with the verb "to do"
- Senses* - the verbs expressing the senses
- The Wolf* - the animals and their meat, Direct and Indirect Speech, the Present and the Past Tense
- The Princess* - the Active and Passive Voice, the Present Perfect Tense, the Comparision of Adjectives
- Anatomy* - the parts of the body, the Imperative

Dancing

Ma - ry is a pretty girl a very pretty girl

To - ni is a handsome boy a very handsome boy

Ma - ry and To - ni are dan - cing with us

Ma - ry and To - ni are our good friends

(change your names in this game)

Mary is a pretty girl, a very pretty girl.
Tony is a handsome boy, a very handsome boy.
Mary and Tony are dancing with us,
Mary and Tony are our good friends.

Anny is a pretty girl, a very pretty girl.
Michael is a handsome boy, a very handsome boy
Anny and Michael are dancing with us,
Anny and Michael are our good friends.

Helen is a pretty girl, a very pretty girl.
George is a handsome boy, a very handsome boy.
Helen and George are dancing with us,
Helen and George are our good friends.

